ABSTRACT :

Now a days pdf files are very paramount in any tech person life . pdf file format is one of the most commonly used file format to transfer data in files from one person to another or from one machine to another machine .there are lots of websites and apps that allows to convert from one file to the pdf and lots of websites,apps that allows to edit the pdf so that the user have only limited options to edit the pdf in such a way that the user required. Suppose if the pdf contains 1000 pages then user wants a pdf with the text in italic then converting of the 1000 pages of text is very time consuming and boring task. Suppose the user makes some .txt/doc file on his/her own and decided to convert into pdf that contains his/her logo as watermark on the each page of the pdf. To do this ,the user first wants to convert his file into the pdf and he wants to edit that pdf which is very time consuming and boring task. To overcome this time consuming and boring tasks of modifying the pdf ,we will build a website such that at the time of uploading the file that user wants to convert into the pdf he/she allows to choose the options from the drop down menu thats the user desired if the user does not choose the any option from the drop down of the specified field then the default option will be taken as input .it also allows the users to set links on the content page such a way that the user clicks on the title in the content then the user directed to that page. It allows the user to upload a picture that if he/she wants to set as logo on each page with the coordinates that where he wants to set in the page.
